NUM. 1050

THURSDAY, JANUARY 14. 1742.

7<sup>o</sup> 2050.

SPEECH of the Honourable GEORGE THOMAS, Esq; Lieutenant-Governor and Commander in Chief of the Province of Pennsylvania, and Counties of Newcastle, Kent and Sussex on Delaware; to the Representatives of the Freemen of the said Counties, in General Assembly met, at Newcastle the 20th Day of October, 1741.

GENTLEMEN,

SINCE I met the Assembly of this Government in October last, I received his Majesty's Commands from their Excellencies the Lords Justices; That I do take effectual Care for the future, That the Act of Parliament passed in the Sixth Year of her late Majesty Queen Anne, intituled,

An Act for ascertaining the Rates of Foreign Coins in her Majesty's Plantations in America, be punctually and fully observed and put in Execution, according to the true Intent and Meaning thereof. And that whereas many and great Inconveniences have arisen in some of his Majesty's Colonies and Plantations in America, by passing Laws for striking Bills of Credit, and issuing the same in lieu of Money, making it obligatory on all Persons to take such Bills in Payment of Debts, Dues and Demands, whereby the aforementioned Act of the Sixth of Queen Anne has been frustrated, and great Discouragement has been brought on the Commerce of Great Britain, by occasioning a Confusion in Dealings, and a lessening of Credit in these Parts; I am required upon pain of his Majesty's Displeasure, not to give any Assent to, or pass any Act whereby Bills of Credit may be issued in lieu of Money, without a Clause be inserted in such Act, declaring, that the same shall not take Effect, until the said Act shall be approved by his Majesty, his Heirs and Successors.

At the same Time I received Letters from the Right Honourable the Lords Commissioners for Trade and Plantations, requiring, 'In Pursuance of an Address of the House of Commons to his Majesty, and his Majesty's Commands, an Account of the Tenor, and Amount of the Bills of Credit which have been created and issued in my Government; and my Opinion, what will be the most easy and effectual Manner of sinking and discharging all such Bills of Credit, with the least Prejudice to the Inhabitants, and Interruption of the Commerce of Great Britain.' And further, 'That I should forthwith prepare a complete Collection of all the Laws which have been made and are now in Force in this Government, to this present Time; and transmit the same to them with all convenient Expedition.'

As the Speaker of the Assembly last Year, who was at the same Time one of the Trustees of the Loan-Office, had furnished me with an Account of your Bills of Credit, in pursuance of the like Orders I had then received from the Lords of Trade; I transmitted a Duplicate of that Account, without putting the Assembly to the Trouble and Expence of meeting for that Cause only: And I at the same Time offer'd it as my Opinion to their Lordships, that your Bills of Credit could not be otherwise sunk and discharged, than in the Method and Manner prescribed by the Acts by which they were created and issued, without great Prejudice to the Inhabitants here, and Interruption of the Commerce of Great Britain.

The Preparing and Printing a Collection of the Laws of this Government has been often under the Consideration of former Assemblies; but whether deferr'd by the Apprehension of Expence, or the Trouble that would attend it, little has been done towards it. The Necessity and Utility of the Work are so evident, that I do not know how you can more effectually recommend yourselves to the Esteem of your Constituents, than by enabling me to comply with his Majesty's Commands in this Particular.

As by our last Accounts from London, all the Powers of Europe are Arming, and Matters seem now to be brought to such a Crisis, that it is generally apprehended a War with France is at no great Distance; the defenceless Condition of these Counties, exposed even to the Inroads of a few Privateers, or to the domestick Insurrections of the Negroes, spirited up by Emissaries from our Enemies (as is supposed to have been the Case in some of the neighbouring Colonies) must give every Man amongst you some melancholy Reflections: But as you do not want Numbers of Men sufficient to repel any Force that can be suddenly brought against you, it will be your own Faults, if you shall be at any time surpris'd, unarmed, and unacquainted with Discipline.

I for my Part shall be willing to give my Assent to any Bill that shall be presented to me for your Security, and all the Assistance otherwise in my Power. An Act for establishing and regulating a Militia, may be so framed, as not to be burthensome to the People; and it is very far from my Inclination that it should be so. It will be no great Expence to such as are in tolerable Circumstances, to provide a good Firelock, Bayonet and Cartridge-Box, nor any great Fatigue to them to meet at convenient Places Six Times in the Year to learn the Exercise. A Magazine of Arms may be purchased at the publick Expence, by such Degrees as your Circumstances shall admit of, for Arming such as shall not be able to purchase them themselves.

After the Zeal shewn by this Government, for his Majesty's Service and the Honour of our Mother Country, in Raising, Vexualling and Transporting a Number of Men for the Expedition, I should be very unwilling to press you to any further Expence, but what my Duty absolutely requires of me, and is necessary for your Preservation: My own Interest is no ways concerned in the Resolutions you shall think fit to come to. When that has been in Question, I have always chosen to leave it to the Assembly, who ought to be the best acquainted with the Abilities of the People they represent. I have set a much higher Value upon the Regard and Affection this Government has shewn for me, than upon the Advantages which have accrued to me from it: And you may be assured of my ready Concurrence in every thing that you can in Reason ask of me for its Benefit.

The Assembly's ADDRESS to the Honourable GEORGE THOMAS, Esq; Lieutenant Governor and Commander in Chief of the Government of the Counties of Newcastle, Kent, and Sussex on Delaware, and Province of Pennsylvania.

May it please your Honour,

WE return your Honour hearty Thanks for communicating to us his Majesty's Commands, from their Excellencies the Lords Justices, for the due Observance of the Act of Parliament made in the Sixth Year of her late Majesty Queen Anne, intituled, An Act for the ascertaining the Rates of Foreign Coins in her Majesty's Plantations in America, according to the true Intent and Meaning thereof; in order to prevent the Inconveniencies that have arisen in some of his Majesty's Colonies and Plantations in America, by passing Laws for striking Bills of Credit, and issuing out the same in lieu of Money, whereby the Credit of Trade hath been lessened.

Whereupon we take Leave to observe to your Honour, That the several Acts heretofore made for emitting a Paper Currency within this Government, and those which now subsist, have been founded with a due Regard to the said Act of Parliament: And in such a Manner that the Credit of the said Currency hath hitherto been well supported, and the Trade of this Government thereby greatly increased, without any visible Injury to the Commerce of Great Britain.

We look on it as a particular Mark of your Honour's Favour to this Government, that you have been pleased to procure a State of our Bills of Credit in the Manner you express, (without giving the Assembly the Trouble and Expence of Meeting on that Occasion) and transmitting the same to the Lords of Trade in Great Britain; and offering your Honour's favourable Opinion to their Lordships, agreeable to our Sentiments, that our Bills of Credit could not be otherwise sunk and discharged than in the Method and Manner prescribed by the Acts by which they were created and issued, without great Prejudice to the Inhabitants here, and Interruption of the Commerce of Great Britain.

We agree with your Honour, that Preparing and Printing a Collection of the Laws of this Government, is a Work highly necessary and of great Importance to the Inhabitants thereof; of which the late Assembly was so sensible, that they have caused a considerable Number of Laws to be prepared for the Press, which are now Printing and near completed. And we shall think it our Duty during this Session, to take proper Care that so needful a Work may be carried on in the best and speediest Manner that our Circumstances will admit: Whereby your Honour may be enabled to transmit Copies thereof to the Lords Commissioners for Trade and Plantations, pursuant to his Majesty's Commands.

As his Majesty is already engaged in a War with Spain, and from the Accounts we daily receive, we have just Reason to fear that a War with France is unavoidable; and as the defenceless State of this Government will expose us to the Insults of every Enemy, and make us liable to become a Prey to the first Invader: From a real Sense of Danger, and from the Examples of all Nations and Governments, we shall take this Matter into our serious Consideration, in order to provide some Method of Defence for securing ourselves at least in some Measure against a foreign Enemy, as well as against the Danger of any domestick Insurrections from our Slaves, who of late have given us too much Reason to fear that they will become troublesome to us in like Manner as Negroes have been in some of our neighbouring Governments.

We are extremely obliged to your Honour for the great Regard and Concern you express, and have upon all Occasions shewn for the Safety and Welfare of this Government; and shall use our best Endeavours to deserve the Esteem your Honour is pleased to profess for us. And we think it a Happiness, that we have a Governor who is so willing to concur with us in every thing that is reasonable for the Benefit and Safety of the People we represent.

New-Castle, 22d 2<sup>d</sup> October, 1741. Signed by Order of the House.

THOMAS NOXON, Speaker.

At this Session of Assembly, the following Bills were presented to the Governor, and received his Assent, viz.

An Act for the more effectual preventing and punishing the evil and wicked Practices of Horse-stealing, and other Felonies and Offences committed within this Government.

A Supplementary Act for the Amendment of an Act of General Assembly of this Government, made in the Fourteenth Year of his present Majesty's Reign, intituled, An Act for the more easy and speedy Recovery of small Debts.

An Act for establishing a Militia within this Government.

An Act for the Support of Government.
